

BASIC PRINCIPLES OF MUSIC THEORY

CONTENTS

1. NOTATION, SCALES, KEYS . . . . .	3
Basic elements of music notation — Major scale — Keys and key signatures — Circle of fifths — Minor scales — Relationship of major and minor — Chromatic scale
2. INTERVALS . . . . .	18
Structure — Types — Consonance and dissonance — Inversion of intervals — Compound intervals — Enharmonic intervals
3. TRIADS: FORMS AND FUNCTIONS . . . . .	25
Structure — Types — Triads in context
4. THE PRIMARY TRIADS: TONIC, SUBDOMINANT, DOMINANT . . . . .	33
Function of triads — Four-part writing — Chorale and piano style — Mel- ody, meter, and rhythm — Active and inactive tones
5. HARMONIZATION IN THE ROOT POSITION . . . . .	46
Basic principles — Cadences — Free chorale style harmonization — Mel- ody with accompaniment
6. THE FIRST INVERSION . . . . .	62
The figured bass — First inversion triads — Structure and use — Binary form — Non-harmonic tones — The passing tone
7. THE <math>\frac{6}{4}</math> CHORD . . . . .	76
Structure — Function — Specific types — Ternary form — The neighbor- ing tone
8. THE DOMINANT SEVENTH . . . . .	88
Structure — Characteristics — Function — Inversions — The suspension

9. SECONDARY TRIADS: SUPERTONIC, MEDIANT, SUBMEDIANT, LEADING TONE . . . . .	110
Nature — Function — Structure — Relationship with primary triads — Basic root progression — Specific secondary triads — The anticipation
10. MODULATION . . . . .	131
Purpose — Pivot chord type modulation — Harmonic rhythm — The appoggiatura
11. THE SECONDARY DOMINANT . . . . .	146
Terminology — Structure — Function — Cross-relation — Writing for two voices — The échappée and cambiata
12. THE SECONDARY SEVENTH . . . . .	162
Seventh chord structure — Function — Characteristics — Writing for three treble voices
13. THE DIMINISHED SEVENTH. . . . . .	183
Nature — Characteristics — Structure — Function — The pedal point — Irregular aspects of neighboring tones and passing tones
14. CHORDS OF THE NINTH, ELEVENTH, AND THIRTEENTH. . . . . .	199
General considerations — Discussion of each chord — Writing for three lower voices
15. MODAL ALTERATIONS . . . . .	216
Purpose — Alternation of modes — Mixed modes — Altered third, sixth, and seventh degrees — Writing for four treble voices
16. ADVANCED MODULATION . . . . .	233
Modulation by modal alteration — Enharmonic — Sequence — Common tone — Chromatic — Abrupt — Writing for four lower voices
17. CHROMATIC ALTERATION. . . . . .	244
Possibilities — Neapolitan sixth chord — Augmented fifth — Diminished fifth — Raised $ii_7^\circ$ and $vi_7^\circ$ — Augmented sixth chords
CONCLUSION. . . . . .	264
GLOSSARY OF MUSICAL TERMS. . . . . .	266
TRANSPOSITION AND TRANSPOSING INSTRUMENTS. . . . . .	269
SUGGESTED REFERENCE MATERIALS. . . . . .	272
INDEX. . . . . .	275